A complete turnaround from last week. I cannot remember when Hampstead were unbeaten throughout a block fixture. Especially pleasing when you consider that Beckenham are the champion club of the South of England. The strength of the club is beginning to show through all levels and if the weather improves I don't expect us to lose many more games.

The 1st XI has certainly never won 2 league games in a weekend before. It was a thoroughly workmanlike performance on both days, not much pretty hockey but tons of effort. The side is playing so much as a team that if any player is having an off day the rest cover up and help him through the bad patch.

Bill Taylor scored both goals, both of which were squeezed over the line by about 6 inches; shots at goal were in short supply at both ends with the game mainly played as a glutinous mid field struggle. However, John Brown pulled off a 'magical' save in each game.

Actually we were confident of a good weekend: while having a delicious lunch provided by Robin and Richard Chapman on Saturday we watched John Brown (7-4 favourite) win the 1.30 at Wolverhampton.

We are expecting a large contingent from the University game at Lords so buy your ticket early.
